

Catherine Souyri-Desrosier, French Commission for UNESCO, Advisor

Catherine has been working as an advisor for communication at the French Commission for UNESCO since 2001.

As such she is in charge of the programmes of this sector of UNESCO at the French level. She participated in the World Summit on the Information Society. Among others she has organized international symposiums and conferences on key issues of the information society (freedom of expression, cultural and linguistic diversity of the contents, copyright and neighbouring rights, ethics and human rights in the information society) and has coordinated the publication of a collective book on the notion of information society (« Information society » : critical glossary, Paris, Documentation française, 2005).

She is a French national. She has studied international public law and international relations.